14、Learning to drive isn't as simple as people think.

First, youneed a good teacher. It's better to have lessons from aqualified driving instructor. These lessons are expensive,however, but it is worth the money.

Proper instructors have special cars, with extra mirrorsand special controls, such as an extra brake pedal. They canuse this if you have piroblems and stop the car themselves.This gives you confidence when you're learning.

As well as worrying about how to use all the controls,looking in the mirrors and deciding where you're going. youhave to work out what other drivers are doing. That's why it'sbetter to learn to drive in the countryside on quiet roads ratherthan busy roads in town centers.

You shouldn't spend too long on your first lessons, as.....

4、Drunk driving(醉驾)has become a serious problem in China.

Drunk driving (醉驾) has become a serious problem in China. According to the Ministry of Public Security (公安部), the police caught more than half a million drunk drivers in 2010. On the night of May 9, 2011, musician Gao Xiaosong ran his car into three other cars in Beijing because he drank too much (B. wine). He was (A. punished) under China's new drunk driving law that came into use on May 1, 2011.

The new law sees drunk driving as a (B. crime). In the west, drunk driving is also a crime. In the US, for example, if the police catch a drunk driver, the driver will pay a (C. fine), lose his or her (C. license) and even go to prison (监狱). If the driver wants to drive again, he or she has to do public service, and take part in educational programs.

You may think: drunk driving is crime? Isn't this law too unkind? But experts say: not at all. They think it is to protect people's rights to life and health. Drunk driving is very dangerous!

5、Effects of Child Abuse and Neglect

Effects of Child Abuse and Neglect

Child abuse may leave lasting scars. Some scars are physical, but some emotional scars may affect a child's whole life. The effects of child abuse include:

Lack of trust. The child needs safety physically and (C. emotionally). If a child suffers from abuse, he won't feel safe, so it is very difficult for him to learn to trust people. This may lead to difficulties when the child has to (A. keep) good relationship with the others, because he is afraid that someone may control him.

Feelings of being "worthless". If you tell a child over and over again that he is stupid or no good, it is very hard for him to overcome the feelings, and he will accept them. When he grows up, he may not work hard for a (A. better) life, because he doesn't believe he can make it or he thinks of himself as worthless.

Trouble in (B. controlling) emotions. If an adult once suffered from abuse in his childhood, he can't express emotions safely. (C. As a result), the emotions are coming out in unexpected ways. He may easily get angry, even turn to drugs to numb out the painful feelings.
